

Severe Weather Conditions

Cold Weather Injuries

Exercise 1

a helmet protects	the head
a woolen sock protects	the feet and the toes
a mitten protects	the hands and the fingers
a glove protects	the hands and the fingers
an overall protects	the body
a boot protects	the feet and the toes
a collar protects	the neck
a hat protects	the head and the ears
a hood protects	the neck, the ears and the head
a scarf protects	the neck
a knitted cap protects	the head and the ears

Exercise 2

<Don't rub/Do not rub/don't rub/do not rub> the affected area.

<Don't wear/Do not wear/don't wear/do not wear> tight clothing.

<Remove/remove> wet clothes.

<Don't try/Do not try/don't try/do not try> to swim to the shore, if you are more than one kilometer away from it.

<Move/move>, if you get cold.

<Don't give/Do not give/don't give/do not give> the patient alcohol.

<Don't touch/Do not touch/don't touch/do not touch> cold metal with bare hands.

<Don't put/Do not put/don't put/do not put> the affected body parts into hot water.

Exercise 3

Ice pellets <are> solid grains of ice.

Numbness <is> a symptom of frostnip.

Hands <have> less blood flow than the body.

Seek medical help, if normal sensations <have> not returned within 30 minutes.

Hypothermia <is> a general cooling of the body.

A person who <has> severe hypothermia <is> unable to walk.

Exercise 4

Protect yourself against cold weather by adding clothes.

Prevent injuries.

Wear several layers of loose clothing.

Touch cold metal with gloves or mittens, not with bare skin.

Avoid wind.

Keep your head warm.

Remove wet clothes.

Rewarm the affected area gently.

Exercise 5

A person who has mild hypothermia may drink <hot juice>.

A person who has severe hypothermia has <slow pulse>.

A person who has mild hypothermia is unable to <work>.

If you get frostnip, <reheat> the area gently.

Frostnip often affects the <cheeks>.

<Numbness> is a symptom of frostnip.

White colour of the skin is a <symptom> of frostbite.

If you get frostbite, put the affected body part into <warm water>.

Freezing rain makes the ground <slippery>.

Wind removes body heat, which can lead to <injuries>.